The Spring 2022 Eurobarometer survey is the first one commissioned by the European Parliament since the start of the war in Ukraine. With fieldwork completed in April and May 2022, war has become a daily reality and its political and economic effect is tangible to many Europeans.

It is this very impact that the Parliament's Spring 2022 Eurobarometer sets out to assess. The survey focusses on three aspects. First, the war in Ukraine and its economic impact on European citizens (including readiness to face the consequences such as rising prices). Second, it looks at citizens' attitudes towards the EU, the importance of EU membership and the political priorities and values the European Parliament should focus on. Last but not least, it looks at citizen voting propensity two years ahead of the 2024 European elections.

The survey was carried out by KANTAR PUBLIC in all 27 EU Member States. 26,580 interviews were conducted primarily face-to-face and completed with online mode where necessary, with EU results weighted according to the size of the population in each country.
